round table on mental health care for refugees in the hosting countries

Tomáš Zdechovský MEP

Dear participants,

Dear experts,

Let me extend my support to this round table on mental health care for refugees. Psychotherapy with refugees is an important tool for improving their life in the hosting countries. Given the numbers of refugees coming to Europe, it is vital to create a common framework for ensuring their mental health. Therefore, exchange of views and experiences between experts from different countries is essential for better international cooperation in this field. I appreciate your effort in making this a reality today and I hope this event will turn to be a successful one.

Yours sincerely,

Tomáš Zdechovský
